

BIRD BOY

New Peckham Varieties presents

by Michael Foreman and Teresa Early
Music by Roger Goslyn

Leaving the Caribbean is a wrench for Arnie, and London, the city where he comes to seek his fortune, does not always greet him as a friend. Life in London is sometimes bleak, but high above the colonnades and vegetable stalls of bustling Borough Market he finds a place to make his own.

The colours, sights and sounds of Arnie's island home, remain in his heart and he longs to hold on to the memories the island music brings him. Through his music he meets Zac, the lonely child the other kids nickname Bird Boy.

Life on the street can be rough, but somehow the two manage to help one another along. Their music starts to bring harmony among the people that make up their street - but is everyone really listening?

NPV is delighted to be collaborating with Michael Foreman. Bird Boy is a magical story and promises to give South London audiences a little slice of wonder this Christmas.
